

Congratulations to our PhD student, Tingjing, for winning the 2014 Singapore Medical Association Clinical Research Award!

Ms Ke Tingjing won the prestigious award for her work on the study of associations of SNPs in peroxisome proliferator activated receptors with high density lipoprotein, and gene-gene interactions in Singaporean Chinese.

Prof Fred Wong, Vice Dean of Research (Yong Loo Lin School of Medicine) presented the award.